For Immediate Release

March 9, 2021

Mansfield, OH — Due to the pandemic, the Pastures for Profit Grazing School was held virtually. In case you missed the webinars, don't have internet or have poor internet, Richland Soil and Water Conservation District will be sharing them Wednesdays April 14, 21 and 28 from 10 to 12 noon in the Longview Center Conference Room located at 1495 W. Longview Avenue, Mansfield, OH. Registration is requested by April 7 and may be made at www.richlandswcd.net or by calling 419-747-8686.

The program is a grassland management school designed for grazing livestock producers and resource managers.

The goals of the Grazing School are to:

- 1) educate producers and resource managers in the art and science of grazing management
- 2) transfer new technology in grassland management to producers and resource managers
- 3) improve the producers' ability to better manage their grassland and related natural resources.

Participants will be able to use the information they receive to help ensure their grazing operations are environmentally responsible as well as economically viable.

The cost to attend is $30 per person and includes the webinars and resource binder or USB drive. Space is limited to 20 people.

For more information, please visit www.richlandswcd.net or call 419-747-8686.

Pastures for Profit Grazing School is sponsored by Richland Soil and Water Conservation District, USDA-Natural Resources Conservation Service, Ohio Department of Agriculture, the Ohio Forage & Grassland Council and The Ohio State University College of Food, Agricultural and Environmental Sciences. USDA is an equal opportunity provider, employer, and lender.

The Richland Soil and Water Conservation District develops, implements, and assists landowners, government agencies and our partners with a wide range of natural resource conservation programs.

Programs and assistance of the Richland Soil and Water Conservation District are available without regard to race, color, religion, sex, gender identity, age, national origin, ancestry, disability, or veteran status.
