Ohio Governor Mike DeWine and Ohio Department of Agriculture (ODA) Director Dorothy Pelandra announced last week H2Ohio's farmer incentive program is expanding into 10 additional counties in the Western Lake Erie Basin. Richland county is included in the expansion and Richland Soil and Water Conservation District (Richland SWCD) is administering the program in Richland County.

The program offers funding to farmers to implement proven conservation practices that limit agricultural phosphorus runoff from fertilizer. Phosphorus runoff is the primary cause of algal blooms in Lake Erie.

The virtual meetings will be held on Microsoft Teams and will provide more information on H2Ohio's conservation programs. The enrollment period only lasts until August 31 so do not miss out; attend one of the meetings to learn more about the program and how to sign up.
